John J. Cole, 24 years old, of Pineville, N.C., an employee of the Pittsburgh-Des Moines Steel Company, of Pittsburgh, Pa., was killed almost instantly yesterday at Blackstone, when he fell from a steel water tank eighty feet high under course of construction for the town.

Ben Cohn, of Ocean View, was sentenced Monday night to six months in jail on a charge of "running a gambling house," and fined $50 each on two other counts, charging selling liquor on Sunday and selling liquor without license. Two men arrested in Cohn's house and charged with gambling were fined $5 and costs.

Mrs. J. T. Cornwell was painfully burned Monday while carrying tomatoes at her home in Purcellville. She had filled a tin can and put it in the oven to melt the sealing wax. On opening the oven door the can exploded, throwing the contents on Mrs. Cornwell. Her face, one arm and shoulder were scalded.

Mrs. Edith Jones, of Norfolk, is in the Memorial Hospital in Richmond suffering from severe injuries and her husband is held prisoner in the Henrico County Jail on a charge of recklessly driving an automobile, as the result of an accident which occurred Monday morning on the Williamsburg Road, about two miles below Seven Pines.

The body of D. Franklin Fulk, 30 years old, arrived in Harrisonburg, Monday from Dayton, Ohio. Fulk left here several weeks ago and secured employment in the National Cash Register Company factory. On Friday he was killed in an explosion while at work. He worked in a restaurant in Harrisonburg, and several months ago was a member of the police force at Hopewell.

Judge John W. Price filed yesterday, in the Corporation Court at Bristol, one of the first damage suits to be instituted under the Federal employers' liability act. Mrs. Rosetta Dowell, administratrix of the estate of her husband, John A. Dowell, sued the Virginia and Southwestern Railway for $50,000 for the death of her husband. Dowell was an engineer and was killed in March when his engine turned over.

"Eleven cases of infantile paralysis" are reported in Virginia this month," says Dr. Ennon G. Williams, state health commissioner. The cases are widely scattered and appear to have no connection with each other. There is no occasion for any alarm, but it is necessary for everybody in all parts of the state to clean up their premises and burn all refuse matter. Drinking from the same glass or dipper should not be allowed.

William Werner, a son of Conductor J. P. Werner, of Clifton Forge, was run over and killed by a Chesapeake and Ohio train on Saturday about a mile east of Clifton Forge. The body was found on the tracks. It is supposed that Werner was on his way to visit at his home, from his work in Bluefield, W. Va., when he fell from the train and was killed. He was a machinist, and at one time was employed in the Chesapeake and Ohio shops at Clifton Forge.

To thwart an effort to place her in the Bon Air home for wayward girls, Mary Bundix, alleged to be 16 years old, drank poison in the private office of the police court in Norfolk, Monday afternoon, after she had been tried on a charge of frequenting a house of ill fame and placed under a $100 good behavior bond. When arrested she gave her age at 22, and shortly after it was learned that she was probably young enough to be sent to Bon Air she drank the poison. A stomach pump was used and she is now resting quietly.

Charles L. Williams of Suffolk, driving Sunday, on the Norfolk road, was held up by two negroes, who jumped up on the running board of his car, one on each side. One of the negroes held a gun in his hand. Mr. Williams was accompanied by his wife, who was holding a loaded pistol in her lap. Mr. Williams grabbed the pistol and shot one of the men through the shoulder, and as he turned to shoot the other, the car ran into the ditch. Both negroes ran off and Mr. Williams stayed by the car, holding the gun and soon a car driven by J. Crocker came along and gave him assistance in getting his automobile out of the ditch.

"Would you have fired at the Deutschland had you met her?" the captain of the French steamer Mexico which arrived at Norfolk yesterday with a cargo of cigars and liquors, was asked. The interview terminated with a shrug which did not reach its highest altitude until the captain's shoulders brushed his ears. Customs officials say the fact that the vessel carries a gun mounted on her after deck will not prevent her getting clearance papers. It is only a 2 1/2-inch gun. The Mexico also carries 150 rounds of ammunition. She came from Havre, and after loading coal and grain will sail for Martinique via Havana.

Contending that they were Seventh Day Adventists, and, as followers of such faith were immune from the Sunday closing statute, four Forest Hill park amusement owners yesterday appealed from the decision of Police Justice Maurice in fining them $20 each and requiring security of $250 for each man. The defendants are R. C. Kitheart, manager of the park; R. H. Plowman, operator of the pony ring; S. S. Puryear, who has the toboggan slide concession, and William Harris, owner of the merry-go-round. Kitheart, Harris and Puryear were each fined $10 last week for operating their concessions the previous Sunday.
